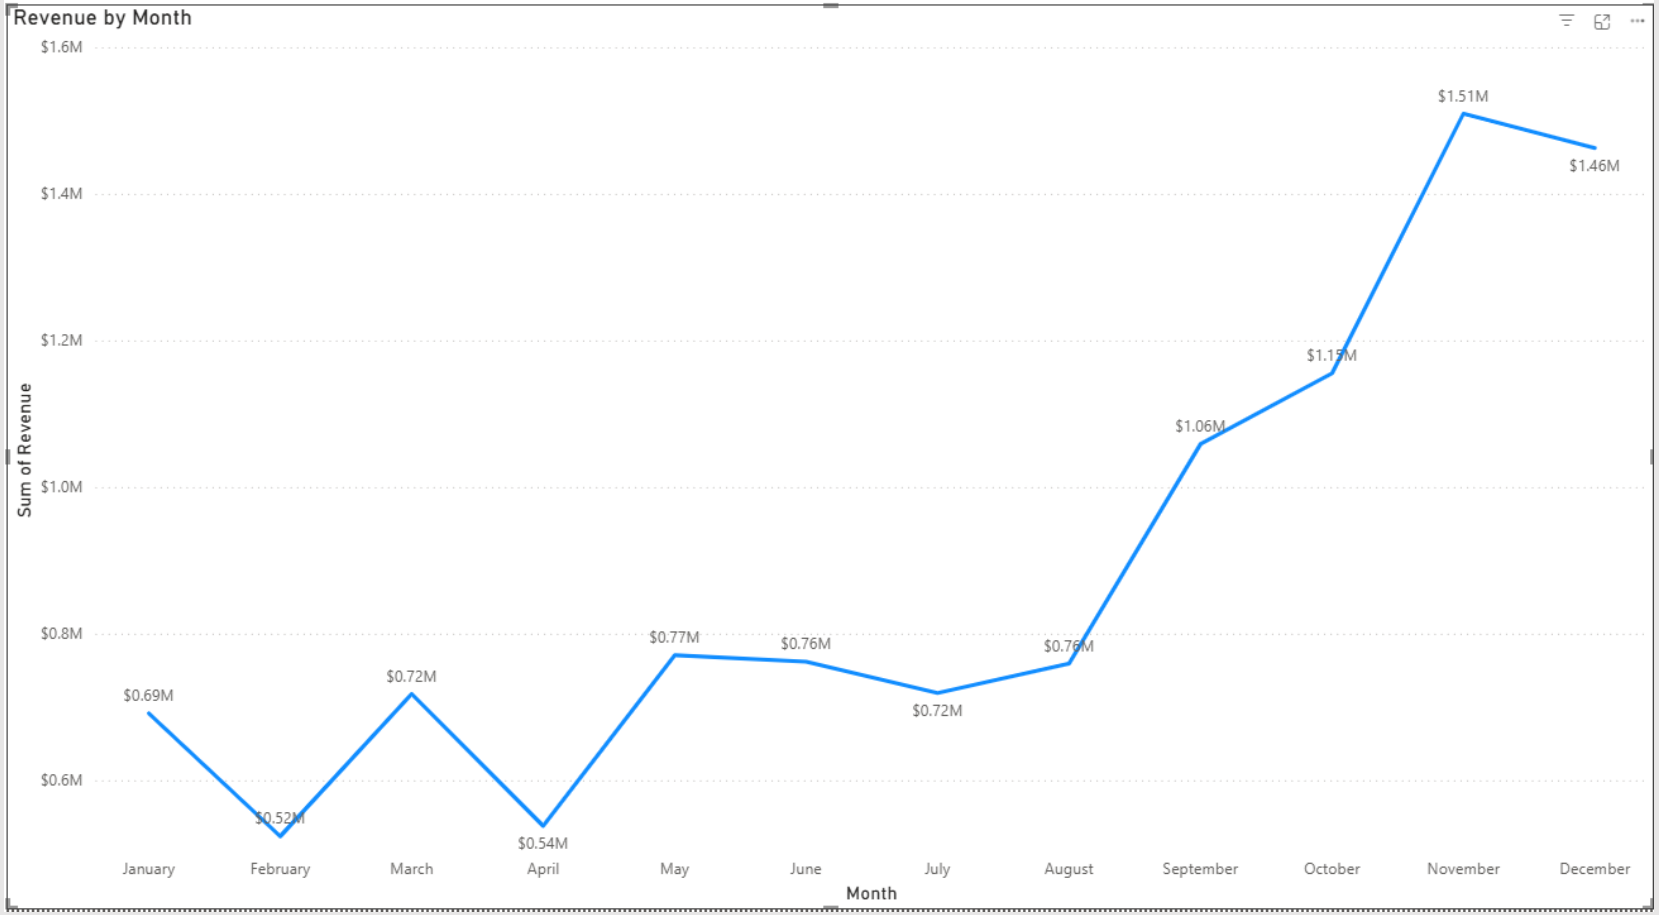
Introduction

- I am Bikalpa Regmi and I am here to share my insights for the company sales performance for the year 2011.

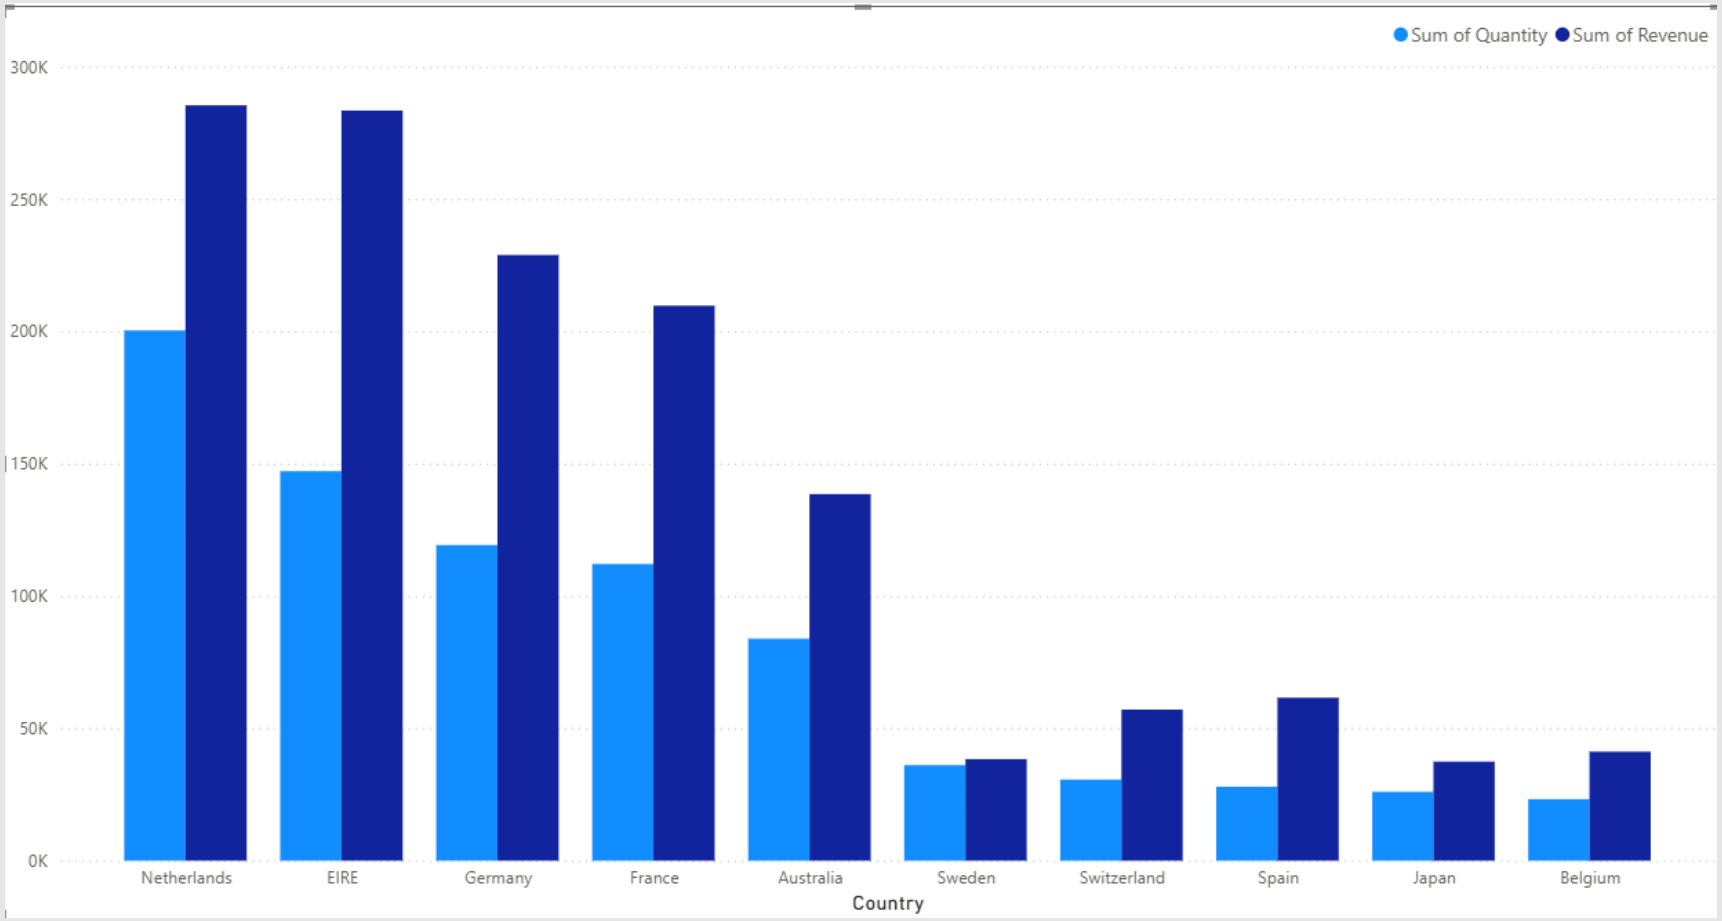
-I wanna thank you TaTa CEO and CMO for questions asked to me and for providing insights for the data.

Thought Process

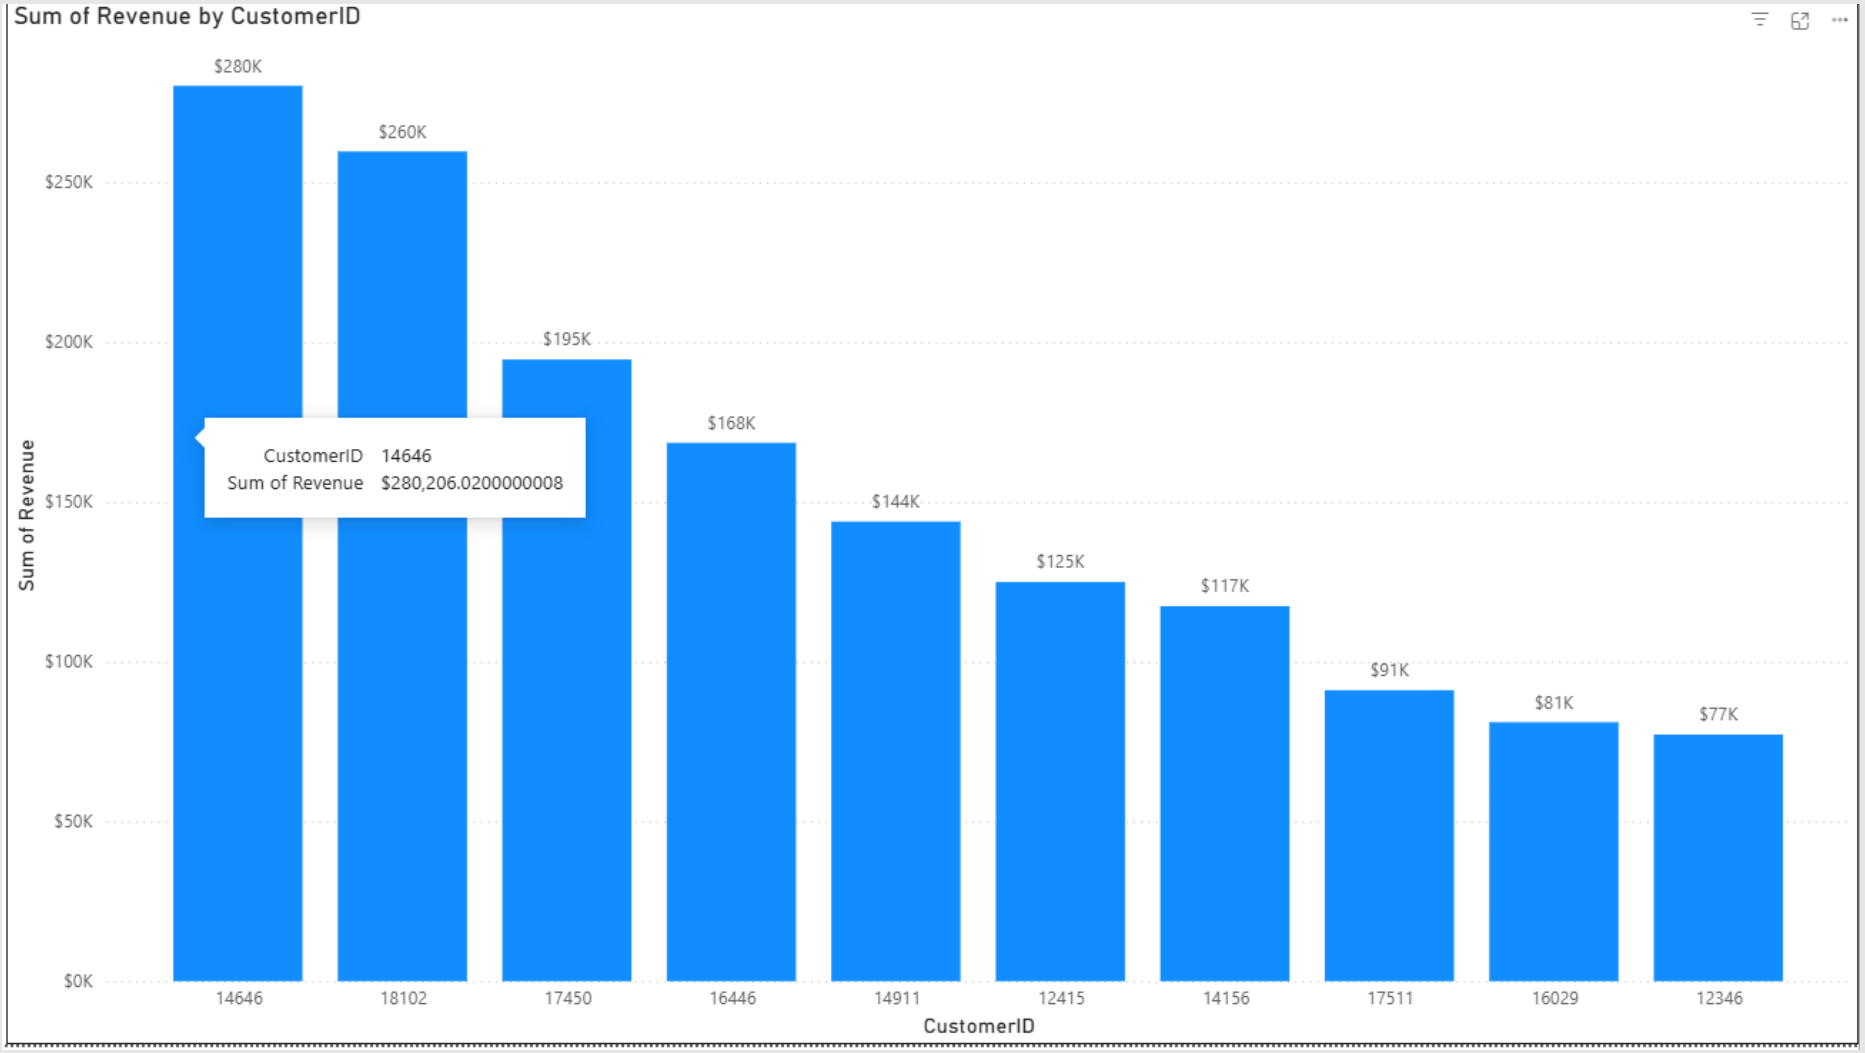
I cleaned up the data you provided inside powerBI. I removed all of negative values inside quantity and removed all of the zero in the unit price. I also removed blank values and filtered as per CEO demanded of UK at certain areas.



The first 8 month had stable monthly revenue. The revenue boosted up from August to November. November is the month where the revenue was at its all time high. However, the revenue was seasonally affected from November to December.



The European countries are found to be contributing more to the revenue and quantity purchase. Despite UK being most revenue contributing country.



The employee number 14646 did the max number of purchase being $280,206. Above are the top ten customerID contributing to revenue.

The map chart concludes that, European countries are contributing most of the revenue. Austrailia and Japan also have notable number of customers. However, there are almost no market in African and latin American continent.

Recomendations

- Seasonal Strategy: Develop marketing and stocking plans for seasonal products due to their high impact on revenue.
- Low-Season Analysis: Conduct a deeper analysis of products that perform well during low-revenue months (January-August) to boost sales during those periods
- Regional Insights: Perform a deeper dive into regional sales data to identify specific product demands per region and tailor marketing strategies accordingly.
- Customer Incentives: Incentivize top-performing customers to strengthen relationships, increase loyalty, and improve retention rates.
- European Expansion: Focus on the European market, as it has high growth potential, and develop strategies to maximize market position there.
